At the conclusion of the bingo, free dancing will take place on the tennis courts. A refreshment stand will be in operation all evening in the park, and it is hoped to have a band in attendance, also

At 5:30 p.m. band and marching display by the Cranbrook Girls Band on main street.

We also understand that the parade marshal will award a prize for the parade.

TECUMSEH BAND TO LEAD GALA 3½ MILE LONG PARADE

Parade Marshal E. Corson has stated that the Coleman Rodeo Parade is ready to go with final arrangements being made conclusive for the big day on July 6th.

Entries are requested to be on time, not later than 11:15 a.m. Judging starts immediately at 11:30 a.m.

Judges will be Jim Kerr of Chinook Cabins, Coleman; H. H. Hill of Lethbridge, and J. V. F. Murray of Nelson, B. C.

The parade will start at the East Blinker Light on highway No. 3 in the town of Coleman. It will set up in front of Chief Corson's house on Third Street.

The smart HMCS Tecumseh band from Calgary, will lead this gigantic parade. However, states the parade marshal, it could be outsmarted by the highly-touted Royal Canadian Airforce band from Winnipeg, with a lot of competition from the Cranbrook Girls Bugle band.

Why do I pick the Airforce band, says the parade marshal—well, because a 38-piece armed forces band has the zip and class of a junior band twice the size and these boys are all trained musicians. However, parade time will tell, who knows?

All kiddies entering this parade as cowboys and cowgirls, with decorated displays or bicycles, are asked to form up on highway No. 3 next to the Catholic hall across from the B.A. Service Station.

One must bear in mind that all Special Police have the powers of a police officer at parade time and persons are asked to abide with their instructions and keep back off the parade route. Absolutely no cars must be parked on the parade route. Your co-operation in this respect will be greatly appreciated.

The parade route will definitely be decorated with Christmas trees by the local Canadian Legion.

Business firms and persons who have given their word to enter a float or decorated car, or even a display are asked not to forget this

Canadian receives highest international nursing award

The highest international nursing award, the Florence Nightingale Medal, has been granted to Miss Helen McArthur, B.Sc., M.A., R.N., National Director of Nursing Services of the Canadian Red Cross Society, by the International Committee of the Red Cross, Geneva. The gold medal, bearing the likeness of Florence Nightingale, was established in 1912, and is given for outstanding contributions towards the development and prestige of the nursing profession.

Presentation of the medal took place on Tuesday evening at the York Club where the national officers of the Canadian Red Cross Society gathered to honor this outstanding nurse. Miss Florence H. M. Emory, honorary adviser in nursing of the Canadian Red Cross Society made the presentation to Miss McArthur on behalf of the officers. Miss Emory herself was awarded the Florence Nightingale medal in 1933.

Miss McArthur received her Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Alberta Hospital and her Master's degree in supervision and teaching from Columbia University, New York. She began her nursing career as a public health nurse in the High River area of Alberta and was successively director of the School of Nursing at the University of Alberta and superintendent of the public health nursing branch of the Alberta Department of Health. In 1946 she joined the staff of the Canadian Red Cross Society as National Director of Nursing Services. In July, 1954, she was appointed to the League of Red Cross Societies and served in Korea as their Associate Relief Co-ordinator for 18 months. While there she was an adviser to the Korean Red Cross and was responsible for channeling all relief which was forwarded by Red Cross Societies throughout the world. In recognition of her services in Korea the Republic of Korea awarded her a scroll and gold pin. Miss McArthur has always been active in nursing organization work; she was president of the Canadian Nurses' Association for four years, and has served as president of the University of Alberta Hospital Alumnae Association, first vice-president of the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses and chairman of the Nursing Section of the Canadian Public Health Association.

Seven other Canadian nurses have been awarded this medal since its inception. They are Miss M. Macdonald, Matron-in-Chief, Canadian Expeditionary Forces, World War I (1927); Miss Anne Hartley, Matron-in-Chief, Hospitals of the Department of Pensions and National Health, World War I (1929); Miss Vivian A. Tremaine, Nurse-in-Charge, Red Cross Support Nursery Service (1931); Miss Jean I. Gunn, Honorary Adviser in Nursing, Canadian Red Cross Society and Superintendent of Nurses, Toronto General Hospital (1935); Miss Jean E. Brown, National Director, Canadian Junior Red Cross (1939); Miss E. Kathleen Russell, Chairman of Red Cross Nursing and Director of the School of Nursing, University of Toronto (1949); and Miss Florence H. M. Emory, Honorary Adviser in Nursing, Canadian Red Cross Society and Professor of Nursing of the University of Toronto (1953). The latter two have recently retired from the University and are living in Toronto.

Reilly named to Bus Company sales post

Ralph Reilly, Regina, has been appointed Sales Manager of the Saskatchewan Transportation Co., succeeding R. G. Molleken, according to an announcement made recently by W. W. Flynn, general manager.

Mr. Reilly was born at Stoughton, Sask., and received his early education there. He began work in the bus industry in 1933 and has been in the business since that time, apart from six years war service with the Canadian Army.

He started with the Saskatchewan Transportation Company in April 1946 as a travelling passenger agent and served for a time as traffic manager before becoming Rates and Schedules Supervisor, the position he held up until his present appointment.

As Sales Manager, Mr. Reilly will be responsible for handling all newspaper, television, radio and other specialized publicity for the company.

This may be "old hat"

This may be "old hat" to some of our readers but then again it may not and in any event a "toy" as dangerous as the one to which this editorial is devoted deserves plenty of publicity.

The April 30th issue of "Saskatchewan News" a non-profit publication similar to that published in Ontario (both government-financed) turns the spotlight on a "DANGEROUS TOY".

"The public is urged," the "News" writes, "to be on the lookout for children's toy cowboy pistols bearing a Japanese trademark. These pistols are highly dangerous and have caused fires. According to Ross Swartz, Provincial Fire Commissioner, the pistol was brought to his attention by the Moose Jaw fire department following a fire in a residence in that city. The fire was caused by a small boy firing the pistol at his toy dog which immediately burst into flame. Upon examination of the gun, it was discovered that the sparking mechanism was too strong and instead of ejecting harmless sparks, the pistol ejected a combination of heavy sparks which merged into a flame three or four inches long."

Better examine those toy pistols closely next time your youngster either wants you to buy one or bring a new one home, hadn't you? And perhaps you, like us, wonder who was responsible for authorizing the importance of such a hazardous "toy".

Manitoba health plan well underway

The new hospital relief plan set up by the provincial government is proving both practical and efficient.

Minister of Health and Welfare, Hon. R. W. Bend, reports that the entire hospital bills of 168 patients in Manitoba have been assumed by the government. An additional 35 applications have been received.

Under the new hospital plan, patients who have received hospital care for more than 180 days qualify to apply for full reimbursement. First outlined by Mr. Bend in the legislature last winter, the plan was put into effect April 1.

Mr. Bend said he expected the plan will give much needed financial relief to people who are forced to stay in hospital for long periods of time.

TAXES UP

Today, in Canada's period of greatest prosperity, Canadians are paying an over-all tax 16 1/2 per cent larger than that which they paid during the Second World War. Of National Income two percent more goes to the tax coffers than did in 1944. But in actual money terms the tax contribution, due to such tremendous increases in net National Income, amounts to 140 percent.

Current films are shown regularly to hospitalized veterans in 52 institutions through the Canadian Red Cross Film Service. 2250

CHEER FOR MOTHER! NEW SIZES COMING

Indian Head mothers who have been having quite a time buying children's clothing will be pleased to learn that soon children's styles will be sold according to body size and not according to age.

Authority for this statement is the Canadian Association of Consumers, Sask., branch, which informs The News this is something the association has worked on for years and at last seen coming.

Information is that a set of standard children's body sizes is now accepted, from which specifications are being worked out for different kinds of clothing. Once the tolerance for good fit is agreed on, preparations for Canada Standard clothing sizes can proceed fairly quickly.

It has been a tremendous and time-consuming job, but the CAC feels it is on the right track in establishing such standard sizes.

Says the CAC: "What a time saver it will be! Just think how much easier it will be when we shop just to have the correct body measurement instead of shopping for a small eight-year size or a large six-year size, depending on the make of the garment."—The News, Indian Head, Sask.—May 16, 1957.

High winds in Saskatchewan were given as the cause of Humboldt and district being without power last Wednesday and Thursday, according to a statement issued by the Saskatchewan Power Corporation.

Power in Humboldt first went off shortly before noon on Wednesday of last week. It was returned in town about two p.m., but in the district power was not returned until about 7:30 that evening. There have been recurring outages for brief periods on several occasions since.—The Journal, Humboldt, Sask.—May 9, 1957.

A rose for mother!

While many local home gardeners are gazing fondly at their first tulips of the season, Mrs. A. Barnett reports the first full-blown Rose! And a beautiful deep red double one at that.

Mrs. Barnett stored the plant in her basement last fall, gave it an occasional watering and in March brought it to her kitchen where three buds soon appeared. As soon as the first really warm day arrived Mrs. Barnett put the box up into the garden where one of the buds quickly developed.—The Enterprise, Selkirk, Man., May 8, 1957.

EXTRA WINNIPEG

During 1956 Canada, by immigration and natural increase, boasted population by 516,000 or, say, by the equivalent of the folk who go to make up Winnipeg. Thus the size of the domestic market was increased to the degree of an extra Winnipeg and by the same token the country's dependence on the international market was lowered by that degree.

Barring the door

(The Herald Tribune, Grande Prairie)

Gates of the Suez Canal have again been closed to ships of Israel by Egypt. There's no doubt that barring of ships from the canal is one of the reasons for the conflict between the two nations, and it was one problem most people seemed to think settled by the United Nations emergency force moving into the disputed area.

However, it looks as though President Nasser, who is running the merry-go-round, has allowed it to come full circle and no farther.

Arguing that Israel and Egypt are still at war, despite the armistice of 1949, he closes the canal to what Egypt considers a "hostile" nation. His argument is based on the actions of British-French canal authority during World War II, when they barred ships of the Axis nations from the canal. If his original premise were sound, there could be no valid argument against Egypt's action.

And, viewing recent history, it is obvious that no peace has really been made between the two nations. Even excluding the invasion of the Gaza strip and Gali of Aqaba area by the Israelis, the sporadic warfare that has troubled the Israeli-Egyptian border can be looked on only as war, however slight its nature may be.

The period of "armistice" has dragged on for these eight years with no decision a day. Eight years with no decisive action being taken toward settling the dispute between the nations. Here again the United Nations must play its role of mediator, and make every attempt to bring the problem to a successful solution.

Israel has indicated its good intentions and good faith by withdrawing from the Gaza strip and the Gali of Aqaba. Egypt has not yet been able to indicate its good faith in any way. Here is the opportunity for President Nasser to do more than talk, or fight his little diplomatic delaying actions. A satisfactory peace treaty can be concluded.

There's adventure at your doorstep!

(The Enterprise, Selkirk, Man.)

Set aside that travel folder, friend. For your summer trip, make it Manitoba; if you don't, you're overlooking a vacationland right at your doorstep.

To impress this fact upon Manitobans, the Department of Industry and Commerce has just added a new film to its large collection, entitled "Adventure At Your Doorstep," that takes you on a picture journey through parts of beautiful Manitoba.

This full-color 16-millimeter film is available, just like the others, for the asking for groups that own or can borrow a projector. In a nostalgic vein, the film re-introduces its viewers to just what Manitoba has to offer tourist-wise.

The tour takes in quiet fishing spots, the Lake District around Ninette and Killarney, the Peace Gardens, Clear Lake, the Red River with its St. Andrews locks, historic fort, old churches; the scenic Whiteshell where canoeists can ask for no better surroundings; the colorful Duck Mountains and a host of other regions that are a delight to the vacationist.

The odds are ten to one that when you've seen the film you'll want to experience that adventure right at your doorstep.

Editorials

from

Canadian Weekly Newspapers

(These are not necessarily the views of the editor of this paper)

No one profiteers — All profit

(The Clarion, Kindersley, Sask.)

It has been suggested to us that some ill will has been engendered against the clinics through circulation of the rumour that the local nurses who assist with the work are paid for doing so. Taint so. It's a shameful libel. The girls give up their own leisure for this work because they understand better than the rest of us, the urgency of the need for this service and because they know that their skills are needed.

To the best of our knowledge, no one makes anything out of these clinics. The people who have to devote all their time to it are paid a reasonable salary. The local people — organizers, canvassers, members of the Registered Nurses Association, the girls who type the records and the people who open the pop bottles and hand them to you all work (and work hard, too) for free. When your pint of blood has been harvested, the Red Cross spends about five bucks of the money you donated last month to process it, package the product and ship them to the hospitals where they happen to be needed.

When you give blood no one makes a rake-off but the whole country benefits. Some day the blood donor service may be the means of saving YOUR life.

Once again the editor has bitten off more than he can conveniently chew. He had promised to write editorials plugging a couple of important coming events on the local scene but by the time he got around to trying to deliver the goods there was only space left for one, he having got his dander up, beforehand, anent a couple of other matters. However, it's an ill wind that blows nobody good and the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic probably deserves the prominence thus accorded it anyway.

As mentioned in a news story last week, The Red Cross thinks we're doing a pretty fair job in the blood donation line down here. As most Clarion readers are aware, we don't. We can't understand why the town of Kindersley and its immediate environs can't oversupply the modest quota allotted to us. Considering that people come to the local clinic from as far away as Hoosier, we think that the attendance at our clinics is disgraceful. The Red Cross is pleased that we are a little more generous than the average Saskatchewan community. The Clarion is disappointed that we are not nearly as generous as we might be.

National Water Safety Week

June 16 to 22

National Water Safety Week is a period planned by the Canadian Red Cross Society to bring to our attention the value of swimming and other summer sports and a word of warning of the many dangers that lurk in, near or on the water.

It is a week devoted to an ideal and a hope that sound advice and guidance will control and curtail Canada's dreadful drowning toll.

During our summer months this newspaper and those throughout Canada will carry headlines about the loss of life by drowning. The record is always a sorrowful one. The headlines represent a needless loss of life. They are the headlines we dislike printing because they are the background for obituaries of friends, neighbors and their families.

The tragedy of these accidents is never forgotten easily. Summer months are months of pleasure and a drowning casts a shadow that lingers for years.

In most cases, drownings are not mere accidents. They are the results of venturesome escapades coupled with an ignorance of watersafety. Canada is blessed with thousands of lakes, rivers and streams. They are a setting of nature for enjoyment by Canadians of all ages, a mecca for pleasure during a delightful season.

This summer, we must be concerned about the rules of water safety. Basically, they are simple and practical. A knowledge of these rules and an understanding of their application will mean a happier and healthier summer for you and your family.

The outdoors is yours to enjoy. Enjoy living and swim safely.

American sportsmen

(The Bulletin, Brooks, Alta.)

In the letters column this week we hear from W. A. Duncan, a sportsman associated with a lumber firm in Seattle, who has visited this irrigation district for several hunting seasons.

Mr. Duncan has opened our eyes to a few facts regarding the help given to game life in Alberta. People in the State of Washington have contributed more than $60,000 to Ducks Unlimited, to help build lakes in Alberta. His own little group sent $500 to the E.I.D. Fish and Game Association to help buy pheasant eggs a few years ago. In the devastating blizzard of six years ago, the State Game Commission sent several thousand fertile pheasant eggs to this district to replace the winter loss.

In spite of this, we feel that Mr. Duncan should not be placed in a position to justify his coming to Alberta to hunt. Whether people in this district want it or not, we have the reputation for having some of the best pheasant hunting in Canada and consequently we are going to have people coming to hunt. So far as "American hunters" are concerned we should extend as courteous a welcome to them as to any other visitors.

To Mr. Duncan in particular, we feel that we speak for the residents in general when we say: Come back, anytime, and hope you have better hunting.

A rare international experience

(The Mercury, Estevan, Sask.)

While it was not even an event to rock the nation, a part of the official opening ceremonies of Minto school at North Portal was an event that can be rather confidently said never to happen before and in all likelihood might scarcely happen again. It was one of those unique and unparalleled affairs that rarely happen and as such calls for recognition and comment of more than ordinary length.

To those unaware of the circumstances it would be hard to believe that the official opening exercises of a Canadian school building should begin in the United States and then finally be completed north of the border.

Yet that took place last week within the sister towns of North Portal, Saskatchewan and Portal, North Dakota.

The latter has no interest in the school affairs of the former, but Portal has auditorium accommodation which is lacking in North Portal and made available its Memorial hall to the Canadians for the major part of the opening program.

So there transpired the rare experience of Canadians going over into the United States to begin their celebration of a milestone in the history of their own land. Not so many years ago a fiery patriotic sentiment would have stopped any such thought instantly.

It reveals how friendship and understanding can develop between people of different nations, and particularly those with similar racial backgrounds, when they are placed in close contact such as the good folk of both Portal and North Portal.

The international boundary line may cut right through the middle of their combined areas but it is not a segregating barrier. They go back and forth, from one side to the other intermingling in activities and only recognizing the invisible survey by paying due respect to the officialdom that is centered there.

Nations can have their official disagreements but the real test of international relationships—barring serious events which stir patriotic feelings in every nook and corner of a country—is simply the matter of how well the average folk get along with one another from day to day, year in and year out. That is the core of friendship between nations.

There is something constructive about this event that took place the other day. It might even be termed an adventure in international co-operation. It was at least an example of assistance kindly offered and warmly accepted and appreciated.

It was an event that should be recorded in proper perspective not only in the history of North Portal and Portal but in the larger scrolls of national histories among the international incidents of a happy nature which just seem to flow naturally into position without any urgings or make-believe.

Those who attended the gathering probably never realized just how unique was the event in which they were participating. The school pupils particularly might well store recollections of it in their memories.

Dial telephones necessary

(The Province, Innisfail, Alberta)

In view of the fact that Alberta within the next few years will be served entirely by dial telephones it would seem good business if each of the groups in the area petitioned the government to hasten the service into Innisfail and district.

Petitions, asking that the project be undertaken for this area now, could be directed from the Town Council, the Hospital Board, School Board and all of the service clubs. A large scale appeal might be just the incentive necessary to get dial telephone service here a year or two ahead of the present schedule.

In the petitions each of the groups could state a strong case for dial phone service into Innisfail and District. Last year, it could be pointed out, the town put over a million dollars into expansion, renovations and buildings. The extension of natural gas and other projects each point to an increase in population and meriting the most modern of services.

Located midway between Calgary and Edmonton and with Red Deer for a next-door-neighbor, the Innisfail Telephone Exchange is no doubt one of the busiest of the kind in Alberta. More important is the fact that demands for service within the next year will reach an all time high.

The worst is yet to come

(The Canadian, Camrose, Alberta)

The words in the above heading are ones used in an early day comic strip that had a bit of comedy in it.

... but our reference here concerns the Suez Canal and the Middle East problems. The world will never know what pressure Eisenhower put on the Israelis to get them to submit to Egypt's humiliating demands. Now the world is wondering just what Eisenhower will do if Nasser gets the idea that he is strong enough, with Soviet Russia's help, to dictate a harsh policy in connection with the operation of the Suez Canal. It would seem that any move the Western powers might make will be objectionable to the Arabs. It has been planned that way. There would be real irony to the situation if the United States found herself in the position where she had to shoot her own way through the Suez Canal. Dulles lamented this week over Nasser "dragging his feet" in the matter of getting the canal cleared for traffic. In the meantime President Eisenhower is seeking a health retreat where the weather is warm and dry.

year, —remember, if we do not all help, there will be no parade.—Don't let your competitor in business put in a float and you do nothing. If you signed to put in an entry there is no excuse to forget or try to evade this gala event. Let's all pull together and put Coleman on top for at least one day. If you don't put your entry in, why should the next person do it.— Please think this over.

The parade will start off with two well-known cowboys, smartly dressed and carrying flags on horses, followed by eight sharp-looking Mounties in their scarlet tunics. They will be played on by the well-known HMCS Tecumseh band. After the parade there will be a trailer show and new car show free of charge inside the Rodeo grounds.

These trailers and cars will be of the latest styles and types.

Band music at the Rodeo grounds will be supplied by the Tecumseh band.

Arrangements are being made to have the Cranbrook Girls band put on a display of band music and marching around 5:30 p.m. on the main street in Coleman. 7 to 8 p.m. in the arena the Tecumseh band will put on a fine band concert, followed by the Silver Spurs of Spokee, Wash., and the Cranbrook Girls band.

Following this will be the huge fireworks display in the town of Coleman.

The local arena has been newly painted inside for your convenience with new siding on the outside—not forgetting the new lighting system inside.

PFRA pasture probable

Probability of the establishment by the PFRA of a community pasture northeast of Runnymede was foreseen in an announcement by Hon. I. C. Nolle, provincial minister of agriculture, last week.

The Saskatchewan department of agriculture will "shortly ask the PRA to investigate the advisability of establishing" such a pasture, the announcement states. The PFRA is under the federal department of agriculture, of which the minister is Hon. J. G. Gardiner.—The Times, Kamsack, Sask.—May 9, 1937.

To Lubricate a Lock

IF A LOCK becomes stiff and hard to operate, a temporary cure is available in any home in the form of a soft lead pencil. Simply rub the key until it is heavily coated with the graphite, and then turn it in the lock a few times. This treatment should make the lock work like new. Of course, you can use powdered graphite, which is available in most hardware stores. This lubricant is blown into the lock through the keyhole by squeezing the tube. The illustration appeared in The Home Craftsman.

RAINS DOUSE RAGING FIRES

A timely overnight rain splashed on the northern Alberta bush overnight Monday, bringing half a dozen fires raging in the Grande Prairie forestry division under control.

"There's just mopping up to be done now," said Forestry Superintendent Ray Smuland who directed two hundred men in the fight to smother a rash of early spring fires in the district.

First firefighters—many of them pressed into service under the Forestry Department's sweeping recruiting powers—were expected to be released from duty Wednesday providing the cool weather continues.—The Herald Tribune, Grande Prairie, Alta., May 7, 1937.

Canada Creates Fashion Fabrics

Canadian fabric producers are today blending man-made fibres with each other and with natural fibres, such as cotton and wool, to create a wider variety of cloths than ever before. While Canada still depends wholly on imports for its supply of raw materials, 75% of the man-made fibre fabrics used in Canada are produced here.

To provide Canada's textile industry with the skilled labour it requires, the Province of Quebec established a modern textile school at St. Hyacinthe. Courses in textiles and the chemistry of dyeing comprise the curriculum.

Modern technology creates not only fibres but fabrics. To produce materials which meet the exacting standards of Canadian consumers, textile technicians devote many years to training and research.

The Canadian textile industry, which had its beginning in the homes of the early settlers nearly 300 years ago, has been steadily expanding until today its annual production is about $800 million—more than the Canadian wheat crop. Above, student at textile school checks cotton, which has been cleaned and freed of foreign matter, being condensed into a soft rope known to the trade as a "sliver".

The fabric and fashion choice offered Canadian women are the envy of many women in Europe. Above, an exhibition of Canadian textiles and women's wear at La Foire Nationale de Lausanne, in Switzerland.

Student learns how to change broken needle on a sweater-knitting machine, which has an intricate 1200 needles. All equipment at the Quebec school is of the latest design.

NEIGHBORLY NEWS C.B.C.

C. F. GREENE

Good morning, Neighbors:

First a salute to what the Tisdale Recorder, Saskatchewan Terms "An Entertaining Ladies Club." Distance, it states, is no obstacle to the Weekes Ladies Club, who travelled 16 miles to the neighboring village of Bertwell, where an all-day auction sale was held recently. Learning that no organization had arranged to supply the hungry crowd with lunch during sale, members of the local club packed up 50 loaves of bread and other food requirements into several cars, journeyed to Bertwell and set up shop at 9 a.m. They were all back at 8 p.m. with $86 to the good."

And "all to the good" were these spuds—the editor of the Oak Lake News, Manitoba, reporting that George H. Smith dug up a number of potatoes recently that had been in the ground since last fall. They had not been frozen but were firm, and nice to eat. "Thanks George," says the editor. Speaking of potatoes, the Watrous Manitou, Saskatchewan, notes that William Scott of the Simpson district has had potatoes showing above ground in his garden for over three weeks. Mr. Scott's nightly job, before going to bed, has been to hustle out and cover them up, save them in case of frost. Thinks the Manitou editor: "It's going some—when a Scotsman can beat an Irishman in growing spuds."

It's hard to beat a man who publicly owns up to a mistake. A notice in the Norquay North Star, Saskatchewan, reads: "My heart-felt gratitude to the Hyas telephone operator, the town fire brigade and rural residents for their alertness and their efforts to help out, when, due to my error, the stubble fire which I started, almost destroyed my neighbor's property recently—signed, Dan Crotenko."

Going on to a neighbor's property for a very good reason were the good people mentioned in the Provost News, Alberta — whose Green Glade district reporter states: An old fashioned bee was held at the Theodore Nent farm when 25 men and seven women turned out to put the crop in and go over some of Mr. Nent's summeraliferous land, brand calves, and so any available jobs to help out while Mr. Nent is in Edmonton.

This good will story reminds us of this same phrase in the Macgregor Herald, Manitoba. Back a number of years ago, it says, some of the town promoters had a "Will Day". One of the horses in the race belonged to Jim Turner, and it ended up amongst the minster's crab apple trees. After that it was known as Crab Apple Jim. Turner tells us that the old horse passed on to his final reward recently.

And—comments the Fort Macleod Gazette, Alberta, if friends are wondering why Miss Edith Hill is spending more time standing up than sitting down this week, the explanation is simple. She went horseback riding in the Pearce district last weekend with Sam Zoeteman. It was her first time in the saddle for over three years.

The word "three" introduces this news item noticed in the Kindersley Clarion, Saskatchewan. Word was recently received of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Julius Martin of Pin Flon and formerly of Kindersey. While Mrs. Martin was still in the hospital her eldest daughter, Darlene, a bride of last June, was ushered into the same ward with her first-born, also a son. Later, as the two were comparing the wee uncle and his wee nephew, they noticed a nurse ushering a young husband and his wife down the hall. The husband was Mrs. Martin's son, Barry, and she was soon possessed of another grandson. All three mothers and three sons were reported doing well. Incidentally, Mrs. Martin now has 12 sons and four daughters.

Going from one hospital to another, we read in the Coronation Review, Alberta, that early Tuesday morning the hospital caretaker was awakened by urgent S.O.S.—the trouble being that a friendly little weasel had found its way in for treatment, but had evidently come in the wrong door through the kitchen. Result being that when the caretaker arrived things looked like an up-to-date floor show. The cook was standing on the table, the laundry lady hiding in the washing machine, the cleaning lady with a mop and a broom at the end of the hall and numerous other female heads peering here and there. After breaking up various dishes and bottles the poor wee thing got in the dryer and there met his unfortunate death. The report adds: Ruby and Lavenda, being farm girls, were the heroes helping the caretaker run it down.

Here are some children who should have received a reward for saving a duck from embarrassment. According to the Kinistino Post, Saskatchewan, the other day the Wilfred and Gordon Sorenson children were playing ball over the barn when they lost the ball. They hunted all over but failed to find it. Then they noted one of their tame ducks sitting about where the ball might have been. After considerable fuss they manage to get Mrs. Duck to move—and sure enough there was the ball! She had mistaken it for an egg and was going to hatch a young 'un. The children figured they had actually done the duck a good turn by chasing it away as it might have still been sitting there until the snow came in the fall, trying to hatch that rubber ball!

From ducks to hens, the Macgregor Herald, Manitoba, reports that Lindsay Shaw has a black hen that likes to get her eggs near the frying pan. She lays one every day on top of an old stove on the verandah.

Looking from the verandah to the garden, the Indian Head News, Saskatchewan, notes that one of the oldest and most capable gardeners in those parts, Levi Peagam of Summerberry, is reading his attractive grounds for another season. Ninety years of age, Mr. Peagam has for many years tilled a garden that has been the source of admiration and envy of the many visitors it has attracted.

And into the gay ninety-and-over class, have travelled these fine oldtimers, whose birthday anniversaries are noted in their local weekly papers. Mrs. T. L. Fargy of La Riviere, Manitoba, 90—W. E. Woodward of Consort, Alberta, 90—Mrs. George Muir of Carman, Manitoba, 93—Willis W. Yeager of Wainwright, Alberta, 94—and Mrs. Sarah Richardson of Portage la Prairie, Manitoba, 95. Mrs. Richardson still remembers travelling by boat up the Red River from Emerson, and by covered wagon from Winnipeg to Treherne, Manitoba.

Another real old-time lady receives a tribute in the Peace River Record, Alberta. She is Mrs. C. A. Broughton, still bright and active at the age of 98 who was awarded a life membership in the A.A. the Anglican Church in Canada in an impressive ceremony at Bishop's Lodge the other evening. Mrs. Broughton feels any day has been wasted in which no special project has been completed and her busy fingers make a great volume of useful articles for her descendants —138 of them at last count—but there are a few more now," she says.

Another lady is in the news for a different reason. According to the Morden Times, Manitoba, the golfer's dream, a hole-in-one, became a reality last weekend for Mrs. R. A. Milne. Teeing off on the third hole, her perfect shot travelled 120 yards to drop in the cup. Three witnesses were present to verify her report—husband Bob, A. MacAulay and H. F. Harp.

Turning to more serious news, the Oak River district correspondent to the Hamiota Echo, Manitoba, states: Citizens are reminded of the vote on the hall coming up on June 4th. Think now, not after. Talk now, or "hold your peace forever!" Which advice could apply to the Federal Election on June 10th.

Speaking the word "yes" many, many years ago, were these couples, recently celebrating noteworthy wedding anniversaries. Captain and Mrs. Perry Fall of Oak Lake, Manitoba, their 68th—and Mr. and Mrs. George Gilbert of Clearwater, Manitoba, their 69th wedding anniversary.

Just starting out on their married life is this couple mentioned in the Vermilion Standard, Alberta. Marriage one day last month at Bobovoy, England, climaxed a Canadian-English pen pal friendship that began nearly 15 years ago. James Blake, aged 29 years, of Vermilion, Alberta, married Marjory Chambers, 27, of Carr Vale, England. James went overseas to see his pen pal last December. The correspondence started when the two were children, through the Winnipeg Free Press pen pal page. The happy couple are making their home in Vermilion.

The final word this morning comes from the Grenfell Sun, Saskatchewan, with this quickie. A 10-year-old boy rushed into the drug store. "Father has been chased by a bull," he cried. "What can I do about it?" asked the shopkeeper. "Put a new roll of film in my camera," said the boy.

Good morning neighbors and keep smiling.

Wheat market threat

A serious threat to Canadian exports is posed by the proposed European Common Market Treaty and Free Trade Area plan, C. F. Fraser, Montreal consulting economist, said recently.

Mr. Fraser, addressing the annual meeting of the Silk and Rayon Institute, said "The immediate effect of the two plans on Canada would be almost certain to be unfavorable."

The proposed Anglo-European trading schemes would, briefly, result in the removal of tariff barriers between England, France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. And these countries would have common tariffs against goods from other parts of the world.

Mr. Fraser noted that, at present, these countries purchase one-fourth of Canada's exports, including a large quantity of Western grain.

Both plans, he said, "must unquestionably lead to a relative increase in the discrimination against dollar goods."

While the plans must be supported by Canada as strengthening Western Europe against the communist threat, Mr. Fraser said "it would be the height of folly to support them if, as they develop, Canada and North America are weakened as economic bastions of freedom on this side of the Atlantic."

SHORTER WEEK

The North American work week, since 1850 has shortened by three hours every 10 years — to 40.2 hours in 1955. On that basis the now-talked-of four-day week could be standard in 20 years. The question: Can productivity be stepped up in that period to make four days' work equal five in output.
